Treasure Island Community Center
2014 Winter Show

By Luba Robinson

Treasure Island Art Guild members open their winter Community Center show featuring Madeline Kirby, Joseph Walles, Susan Walsh, Geri Winston, and Gay Womack through February 26, 2014.

"Capturing a moment in all its' glory" is the mantra of fine artist Kirby, as evidenced in her pastels. She immerses the viewer in "Calm Evening" with a masterful display of visual poetry. Experience the stunning reflections of Florida's pristine "Chassowitzka River". Discordant blue green waves breaking over umber rocks give us "California Surf". "Palomino" expresses the beauty of its' golden coat and flowing white mane.

Photography artist Walles turned a childhood hobby into a career that sees the world in a unique way.

"Shooting in black and white distills an image to its' structure, which is expressive in itself" as reflected in "Beach Chair". High contrast compositions enhance silhouettes in "Waltz the Night Away" and "Caribbean Saloon". "Happy Hour, South Beach" without the distraction of color, gives the viewer an emotionally charged time of day.

Talented artist Walsh, not lacking inspiration to paint, attempts to simulate the bold shapes and bright colors of Matisse in acrylic abstract "In the Courtyard".

Lyrics of songwriter Richard Harris

gives breath to watercolor "McArthur Park". She prefers abstracts but delves into other techniques with mixed media "Dragonfly" and a delightful "Whimsy".

The work of self-taught watercolor artist Winston finds itself bathed in the pure pleasure of "expressing oneself" and having "fun" in the process. As watercolor is uniquely challenging, she successfully allows the light to shine through her mediums' transparency in "Heron in Hiding" and "Water Over Rocks".

Luminous color welcomes a sunlit day for "Potted Plants". A "Peaceful Scene" invites the viewer at days' end to just "be".

Enter the oil painting world of artist Womack, whose Impressionistic style gives us exciting brushwork and freshness in "Pelican Point, Maximo Park" and "Inlet, Boca Ciega Bay". To complement the tranquil setting of "Sun-down on Pass-a-Grille Beach" soft pastel hues calm the spontaneity of her style. In shifting gears to an experimental mode, "Study" evolved into an abstract of colorful forms superimposed over a portrait.

The Treasure Island Community Center is located on 106th Avenue just east of Gulf Blvd.
